Dear Mr. Nelson:

The Customs Trade Partnership Against Terrorism (CTPAT) Program is a voluntary initiative between U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and private business to build relationships that strengthen international supply chains and improve U.S. border security. CTPAT benefits include priority processing and reduced delays at the border.

Thank you for taking part in the CTPAT revalidation of Penn Terminals, LLC. Enclosed please find a copy of our report for your review and prompt reply. As noted in the executive summary, your company has demonstrated effective security within your own organization as well as a dedication to working with business partners to address supply chain security vulnerabilities that may exist. This work is the essence of CTPAT, and CBP appreciates your commitment and cooperation.

In addition to verifying adherence to the practices outlined in your CTPAT security profile, the revalidation is designed to build a stronger security partnership between Penn Terminals, Inc. and CBP. In that regard, I hope there was an opportunity for an exchange of ideas and "Best Practices" during the revalidation.

After review of the revalidation report for Penn Terminals, LLC, it has been determined your company has demonstrated effective security practices and continues to meet the current minimum security criteria for eligibility. Therefore, Penn Terminals, LLC will retain its status as a CTPAT certified member.

If you have any questions regarding the findings or recommendations contained in the report, please contact Supply Chain Security Specialist Cesar Espejo, a member of my staff, at 908-994-3538, or email cesar.espejo@cbp.dhs.gov. I appreciate the support Penn Terminals, LLC has given to the CTPAT and PIP programs and look forward to strengthening our partnership as we continue to work together to secure the international supply chain.

Sincerely,
